ROMANTIC WORKSHOP #17

A KISSING GAME

For this romantic workshop we present a free kissing game, because you asked for it. A number of our readers have done search engine queries on this subject so we decided to put one together for your romantic pleasure. Use this game to break the boredom or to have a little light-hearted fun or to have an excuse to seduce your lover. Whatever your reason for playing this game, it will likely lead to more than just kissing, so be forewarned! What better way can you think of to engage your love for each other more frequently? To express your physical love and have fun while you are doing it is a good thing; but this game will also act to hone your kissing skills, an added bonus!

OBJECT OF THE GAME

To be the best paper, rock, scissors player and thus receive the most kisses.

GAME PREPERATION

You will both need to know the rules for paper, rock, scissors. He should wear only boxers and tee shirt; she should wear only bra and panties. You will need a deck of cards (keep the jokers), and a pair of dice. Optional are things like your favorite background music, wine and candles.

RULES FOR PLAY

Once you have gathered everything you need, you can begin with a quick game of paper, rock, scissors. The winner is the one who gets kissed. The looser will now shuffle the card deck and cut the cards. Your card will tell you where you must kiss the winner according to the list below. If your card-drawn place is covered with an article of clothing, you must lovingly remove it until your kissing task is complete. Then you must lovingly replace that article of clothing. Also, the type of kiss that you must employ is determined by what suit was drawn. The list for this can also be seen below. But you are not finished yet. The loser must also throw the two dice. No action is taken with the dice unless you get doubles. For any dice throw that results in doubles, you must first give the winner of paper, rock, scissors a long passionate lips to lips kiss before you kiss the part determined by the card draw. Additionally, if your dice throw results in snake eyes, (two ones) a gentle caress of the crotch area is required as you perform your kiss. Likewise, if you throw two sixes you must gently caress the buns as you perform your kiss.

Here are your playing lists.
